Sri A K Goel, IAS (Retd.), Adviser to Government, Planning & Energy said that imparting training to Government employees at district, mandal, and village levels is the need of the hour considering the commitment of the Government for achieving multifaceted development of the State. Continuing his address, he underlined the pressing need for an extensive use of information and communication technology (ICT) to impart continuous training to over three lakh Government employees and thirteen lakh teachers, from across the State. Sri Goel said that current generation of the Government employees is tech-savvy and will take full benefit of the e-Learning training programs of the Institute in order to keep their skill sets current and up-to-date.

Sri B P Acharya, IAS, Spl. Chief Secretary & DG, Dr. MCR HRD Institute of Telangana said, with a sense of pride, that the Institute has successfully completed the first phase of the e-Learning training program by imparting training to 9,000 Government employees at the district level, and is all set to train another 9,000 employees in the mandals, across the State, as a part of its second phase. “The availability of trained manpower in different skills, especially in the soft skills, at the grass roots level will have a great multiplier effect, bring in its wake a number of beneficial outcomes, and result in realising the dream of Bangaru Telangana”, he stated and thanked the DoPT profusely for selecting Telangana State in its e-Learning mission. Sri Acharya stated that Telangana State is far ahead of Assam, Haryana, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, and West Bengal, where the e-Learning Mission was launched, in terms of coverage of Government employees. He added that Dr. MCR HRD Institute has got an ambitious plan to cover a whopping 60,000 employees in 2018-'19.
